

TALK UP TAIHAPE

Taihape Community Development Trust - April 2023

Have your say

Decisions are made by people who show up.

The Council is currently visiting communities in villages and towns across the region to talk about the draft community Spatial Plan. The Plan helps council shape its input into Taihape's future. You can find your nearest event on page 3.

We are very pleased to let you know about our revamped website. Check out page 2 of this newsletter.

Now is the time to register your interest for Spring Fling 2023. See page 11 for details or visit www.taihape.co.nz to register online. You can also collect a registration form from the Taihape Information Centre.

Don't forget to check out the Koha Shed at their new location at St David's Hall. See page 19 for opening hours.

The Taihape Community Market is on Easter Saturday, 8 April, also at St David's Hall. Details on page 19.

One of the iconic Taihape images on our new look website

Taihape.co.nz is open for business

In 2022, The Trust invested in a full review of its signature website, www.taihape.co.nz.

We've taken time to ensure our website's look and functionality are up to date.

Visit www.taihape.co.nz and have a look around. Can't find what you are looking for? Let us know.

Email us at admin@taihape.co.nz with WEBSITE in the subject line or call 06 388 1307 9am-5pm Monday to Friday.

The new look and feel is the result of months of work with website designer Pete Smithies.

Pausing to review our website was long overdue and we thank you for your patience.

The next stage of the Trust's online makeover will integrate social media platforms, creating an accessible digital focal point for local information.

We need your feedback on the future of Taihape and surrounds!

FROM THE Mayor's Desk

The inaugural Community Volunteer Awards took place on Thursday 23 March at Te Matapihi and was well attended by over 100 people. The awards were a tangible way to recognise the many hours of incredible volunteer work undertaken by people across our district.

Award recipients were as follows –

- Helen Cooper
- Joe Byford & Don Tantrum (joint award)
- Les Thurston
- Graeme Bradley
- Don Hatfull
- Felix Bell
- Danelle Whakatihi
- Barry Rankin
- Lucy Skou
- David Smith & Greg Carlyon (joint award)

Together with the Mayor's Recognition Award, awarded posthumously to Mr John Beresford Swan Dudding for the significant financial support he has provided to the district over the last few decades. My thanks goes to council staff for organising such a fantastic evening of celebration for our district.

Karen Gittings-Gunn from the Public Trust Office in Wellington receiving the Mayor's Recognition Award, for Mr John Beresford Swan Dudding.

On Monday 21 March our Youth Council met for their inaugural meeting for this triennium. The Youth Council is under the guidance and support of Kelly and Kayla and involves students from secondary schools including Rangitikei College, Ngā Tawa and Taihape Area School. The Youth Committee follows a similar process to full Council, operating under the same Standing Orders and Processes and is able to make recommendations to full Council in much the same way that our community committees and community boards do.

This year the Youth Committee will be chaired by Paloma Janse, a Ngā Tawa student. I congratulate Paloma and her committee, already they are asking searching questions on Council stances to Government direction and community initiatives.

One of the very rewarding programmes that I as Mayor am involved in is the TUIA Mentorship Programme and initiative of Local Government that all councils belong to. This involves most mayors where they select either one or two rangatahi (young māori) from their district to have a mutually beneficial mentoring relationship. This is a relationship that has benefits to me as mayor to better understand cultural and youth issues, something that I value. The rangatahi selected are also required to do 100 hours of community work of some nature in their district and attend five wananga or marae hui within the year. This year I have selected two rangatahi, Bridget Watson (no relation) and Matthew Coogan both from the Taihape area. I intend to introduce both to Council and Te Roopuu Ahi Kaa formally within the near future.

Ngā mihi, Andy Watson, Mayor of Rangitikei.

ANZAC DAY 2023 DAWN PARADE AND SERVICE

Taihape and District RSA will host the Dawn Parade and Service on Tuesday 25 April 2023.

Members of the RSA are to form up outside the Town Hall at 5.45 am, medals to be worn.

Service organizations, schools and members of the public are welcome to march with the parade and attend the service. Any one attending the parade may wear the medals of deceased relatives on their right breast.

Service organizations, clubs, schools and members of the public who wish to lay a wreath at the Service are to contact Russ Levy on 0274 668 393 to have their name added to the list of wreaths to be laid.

At the conclusion of the service all those attending are invited to the Workingmen's Club for breakfast.

Community Organisation Grants Scheme (COGS)

Te Tari Taiwhenua
Internal Affairs

Overview

This scheme provides government-funded grants to support voluntary and not-for-profit organisations working in local communities and neighbourhoods.

Grants are one-off contributions for:

- the running or operational costs of organisations
- community development and projects costs, such as hui, training, planning events
- evaluation and facilitator fees.

2023 dates

Opens 5 April—closes 3 May 11:59pm 2023 Funding decision notified by end of July 2023

COGS National and regional 2023 priorities

COGS National Ngā Hua / Outcomes 2023

Organisations requesting COGS grants need to show how their community-based services or projects will contribute to:

- encouraging participation in communities
- promoting community leadership
- developing community capability
- promoting social, economic and cultural equity, or
- reducing the downstream social and economic costs to communities and government.

COGS committees prioritise community-based organisations delivering services to one or more of these priority sectors: Māori, women, Pacific communities, other ethnic communities, older people, rurally isolated people, people with disabilities, families, youth and children, unemployed people, organisations with limited access to other government funding.

Each Local Distribution Committee (LDC) also develops specific community outcomes they see as having priority for their particular region. Relevance of those priorities have been assessed through a community survey.

COGS Whanganui/Waimarino/Rangitikei Priorities 2023

Community-led initiatives, in response to a community need or aspiration, are resourced and strengthened

Local communities are connected, resilient, vibrant and thriving.

Communities have equitable opportunities to engage.

Community volunteers are recognised, supported and valued.

Priority will be given to locally based organisations

Viral News

Finding the Root Cause of Fatigue

With the recent COVID-19 pandemic, the impact of viruses on long-term immunity and energy levels has been brought into sharp focus. Research shows that viruses can persist in the body, evading host immune and inflammatory defences, in addition to impacting mitochondrial function. The outcome of viral persistence is physical and mental fatigue along with immune system dysfunction presenting as a decreased resistance to infection.

Most viral and some bacterial illnesses are followed by a self-limiting period of fatigue, however, in some cases it can linger for weeks or even months post-infection, known as post-viral fatigue syndrome (PVFS). When PVFS lasts longer than 6 months, it is considered chronic fatigue syndrome (CFS). As such, the World Health Organisation (WHO) classifies PVFS under the same category of as myalgic encephalomyelitis (ME)/(CFS). PVFS is considered a chronic neurological disease; with no defined aetiology, diagnostic tests or defined medical biomarkers.

Characteristics of post-viral fatigue syndrome

PVFS is characterised by long-term fatigue and other symptoms that severely limit a person's ability to carry out ordinary daily activities. A patient with PVFS may also experience non-restorative sleep, brain fog, orthostatic intolerance, myalgia, headaches, joint pain, and tender lymph nodes, in addition to a multitude of other immune, neurological and autonomic symptoms. A key feature of this condition is malaise that worsens following minimal physical or mental exertion, which can persist for days, which is not relieved by adequate rest or sleep. The progression of illness is prolonged and includes cycles of relapse and remission.

Treatment considerations

Naturopathic and herbal treatments help to modulate immune responses, improve mitochondrial function, increase cytoprotection, in addition to provide symptom relief. Adaptogens are indispensable to an PVFS treatment plan and are key to improving the health outcomes.

Adaptogens (plants and mushrooms that help your body respond to stress, anxiety, fatigue and overall wellbeing) prevent and treat respiratory infections and play a vital role in convalescence. They increase resistance to viral infections, inhibit severe inflammatory progression and promote recovery and wellbeing. Clinical studies show several adaptogens can modulate innate and adaptive immunity, promote anti-inflammatory activity, provide cytoprotection and repair by inducing detoxification and antioxidant pathways in damaged cells and directly inhibit viral docking and or replication. They reduce the effects of toxic stress by increasing resilience and adaptability by acting as 'stress mimetics'.

PRESERVING OUR PAST FOR THE FUTURE

Gardening in Taihape

April is a good month for gardening in terms of setting things up for the winter months.

Our gardens should be brimming with green foliage after having some much needed rain, well we had a lot of rain throughout the summer but somethings have still dried off.

Lawns will tend to be needing a bit of attention and the growing conditions would suit patch repairs and sowing new lawns. Spray for weeds and allow those fescues to thicken up for a lush lawn.

Now is the time to freshen up those vegetables gardens and breath new life into your produce production.

There is also plenty of time to grow a selection of flowering specimens in the flower beds. This is a good opportunity to grow a range of shrubs for those foliage also rather than just the bloom.

All in all disease preventions is always keys. Pay particular attention to areas that need it and be diligent taking measure to prevent rather than cure.

Happy Gardening
